As an exhibitor I am aware of the following:

- Chemical substances used in livestock production, disease prevention, or disease control have approved withdrawal times before slaughter.
- Tranquilizers and other non-approved substances cannot be used on or in food animals.

Therefore, I certify that the animals I exhibit have:

_____While in my ownership, have never been given any substance which requires a withdrawal prior to slaughter.

OR

_____Complies with legal withdrawal times for the products used for management practices.

I also agree to :

_____Treat my livestock exhibits humanely while on the fairgrounds, in accordance with accepted animal husbandry practices. Use of hot shots, hitting or kicking of animals will not be tolerated. Failure to abide by the rules will cause me to: not be allowed to show my animals, and I will also not be allowed to sell my animals through the premium sale.

Any exhibitor who knowingly and blatantly violates the rules will forfeit all privileges and premiums and will be subject to being barred from showing at the Woodson County Fair again.

If you as an exhibitor or parent see someone abusing their animals at the fair, you must tell someone in the management (superintendents, extension agent, or fair board member), so that the problem can be handled immediately. If you don't let someone know, then it appears that you don't care or that you approve what was being done. The only way to maintain a clean and positive show is not allow other types of activities to happen.

Livestock projects are a great learning experience for kids, but the main purpose of these projects is YOUTH development, not whether you can show the Grand Champion at the County Fair.
